'Of Mice and Men'
Being a Report
About Hope

What goes on around the restaurant coffee sessions in Hope is frequently worth reporting, and yesterday furnished a good example.

The subject was the intelligence of mice and rats, and how difficult it is to get rid of them. Basil Edwards said he knew of a warehouse that was ransacked every night except the roof—but the rats solved that one by jumping down from the ceiling, trusting to sheer luck to get out again.

Whereupon, Barney Haman put the clincher on the discussion with this story. He said that Frank Douglas was telling Dr. L. M. Little about an old and wise rat that was both eating the drugstore, and this particular night Frank was going to trap him for sure. Doctor said he believed he'd go along and see it.

After Frank baited the trap, the two men retired behind a counter and sat down. Pretty soon the wise old rat came out. He circled the trap. He sniffed the cheese—but he did not touch. No. He went back into his hole—and came out with a young rat. The young rat sniffed the cheese—and grabbed. Bang! Went the trap, and the young rat went to kingdom come.

The old rat retired to his hole again. The men re-baited the trap. And the old rat appeared once more. Again he circled the trap, sniffed his head, and went back to the hole.

And appeared again with another young rat. You guessed it—bang! went the trap. And the wise old rat retired to the safety of his hole.

And the doc put on their hats and went home.

And Jess Davis added the story's tag-line. Said Jess:

"The old rat was just separating the men from the boys."

Father of Hope Residents Dies in Nashville

G. A. Moody, aged 88, a resident of Nashville, died early today at his home after a short illness. Funeral services will be held at the funeral home in Nashville at 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

He was the father of Miss Ora Mae Moody and Mrs. Hazel Castle of Hope.

Navy Vet Goes on Trial for Slaying Mistress

El Dorado, arch 16 —(P)—A 29-year-old veteran was to go on trial here today for the fatal shooting of the woman he said was his mistress.

Don H. Stokes is charged with first degree murder in the death of Mrs. Viola Rushon, 40-year-old divorced night club operator.

Mrs. Rushon was shot to death in her apartment at the rural night club in the early morning of Feb. 22.

Officers said Rushon related a rifle discharged after he picked up to accuse the woman during a quarrel. They quoted him as saying he and the woman had lived together for a year.

Overthrow of Tito Hinted in Europe

By the Associated Press
Europe eyed Yugoslavia and the Balkans with renewed nervousness today.

French foreign ministry sources in Paris say the French government is devoting close attention to reports of some impending move by Soviet satellites against Premier-Marshall Tito.

Unconfirmed reports trickling out of Yugoslavia tell of domestic troubles, with Kremlin propaganda spreading against the Belgrade regime.

The conservative Trieste newspaper Ultimo says Tito soon will meet "some Western world personalities in view of the internal situation in Yugoslavia."

Diplomatic and intelligence sources in Istanbul say something may be about to pop in Yugoslavia. One informant said he believes the overthrow of Tito's regime is imminent.

French ministry officials say they had no definite information of any imminent move into the Balkans, but concern is felt at the prospect of a revival in Russia of an independent Macedonia idea, which would be likely to encounter stiff opposition from Yugoslavia.

The foreign ministers of Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg wound up a two-day meeting in London last night after a close perusal of latest developments in connection with the north Atlantic pact, including arms, needed from the United States.

Most of the European union's foreign ministers are expected to depart for Washington March 25 to sign the treaty with the U. S., Canada and Norway. Iceland, Italy and Denmark and probably Portugal are expected to join.

Premier Ho Ying-chin said in Nanking he believes peace negotiations with the Communists will open "very soon." He is still trying to form a cabinet. He has the problem of finding ministers acceptable to the Communists and at the same time men who will enable the government to present a united front.

Sources in Lebanon said today Israeli and Lebanese negotiators had approved the draft of an armistice agreement to be submitted to their governments for ending that phase of the Palestine war.

In Athens, police have formally accused Greek Communist journalist Gregory Stathis and his brother of complicity in the murder of George Polk, Columbia Broadcasting correspondent. Polk was shot and thrown into Salonika Bay last May.

James T. Luck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Luck of Hope, was a guest conductor on the "Pops" as a guest conductor on the "Pops" at Baton Rouge, La., last night.

Mr. Luck was one of four guest conductors appearing with the Baton Rouge orchestra, under the direction of L. Bruce Jones. The other three were from: Louisiana, Iowa and Tennessee.

The Hope boy, after attending the local high school, served five years in the Navy, and was granted a bachelor's degree in music education. He is a graduate student at LSU and will receive his degree as master of music education in June of this year.

Mr. Luck plans to enter Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., next September, working for a doctor's degree and preparing to enter a full-time religious career.

Funeral services for Millard T. Butler, 31, a veteran of World War II, and a resident of Bodcaw, Nevada county, were held at Union Baptist church, north of Bodcaw, on March 15, with the Rev. Mr. Barham of Rosston and the Rev. Mr. Burks of Prescott in charge.

The Burks post of the American Legion was in charge of the military rites.

He is survived by his widow: two sons, Tommy and Charles Richard Butler; his father, N. D. Butler of Rosston; four sisters, Mrs. Edna of Rosston; and five brothers, H. F. Arthur and Bryan Butler of Rosston, V. E. of Texas, and N. D. Butler of the U. S. Army, Fort Lewis, Washington.

Interment was in the Union cemetery, north of Bodcaw.

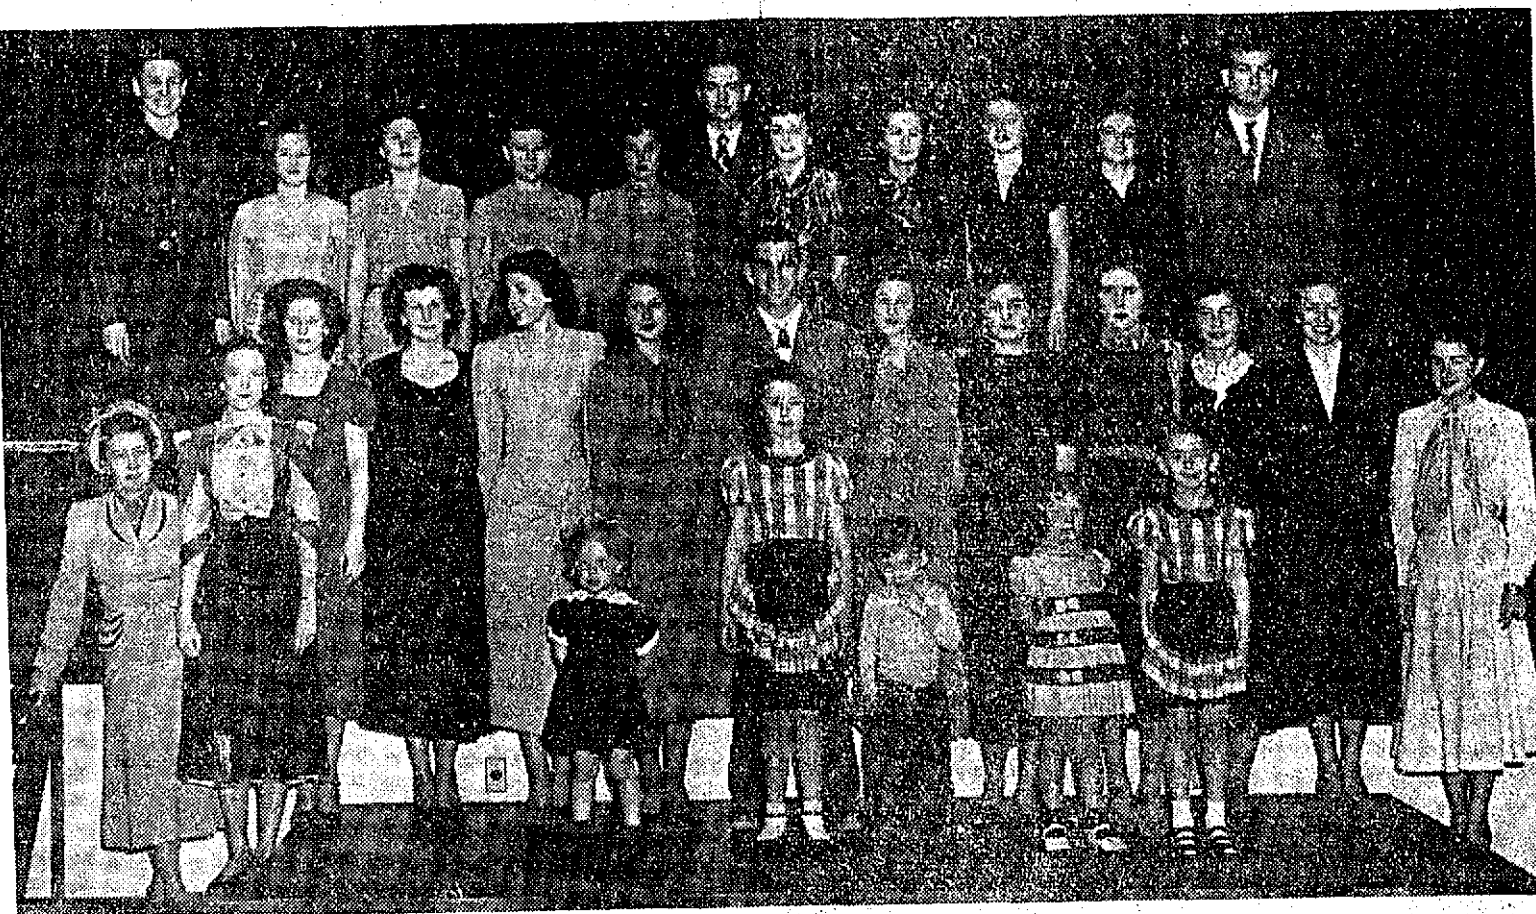

Highway Chairman to Visit District Headquarters

Little Rock, March 16 —(P)—J. B. Lambert of Helena, chairman of the new highway commission, is getting acquainted with activities of the highway department and other details of his job.

Before he named a new commission, Governor McMath said he wanted to acquaint a man who could devote several months of virtually fulltime attention to the highway.

Lambert said he had agreed to do this.

Didn't Mean Harm Mother of Child Says

Boston, March 16 —(P)—Illness today prevented Mrs. Anna Sullivan, 45, from telling a court the strange story of the son she kept for most of his 13-year lifetime as her "secret sin" prisoner.

The neglect charge against the mother was continued to Monday.

Her counsel, Attorney Daniel O'Connell, made the announcement after a private conference with Roxbury district Judge Frankland W. L. Miles.

This came as spectators were crowding an upstairs courtroom expecting to hear the mother's story.

When Mrs. Sullivan does appear for hearing, she may be spared a courtroom meeting with the boy. Court officials said Massachusetts law did not require his presence. They explained that the mother had already pleaded guilty to the charge in her court appearance Monday.

In the courtroom today, women who said they were waiting to hear the Sullivan case expressed divided opinions concerning the mother's course.

Several said they believed she should be punished. Others said: "She has suffered enough."

"The distraught mother has tearfully pleaded for return of the 'love child,' she is accused of keeping captive a dozen years in a dungeon-like room."

"As God is my judge, I love my boy," she cried. "I don't want to give him up."

Police said 14-year old bright-eyed Gerald Sullivan was held in a barren room, furnished only with a cot, until he escaped into the street in an unguarded moment Sunday night.

Mrs. Sullivan, suffering from what physicians described as a terrible emotional upset, denied in an interview that she kept the child locked up in the room.

She explained that she kept him in the house to "hide my shame" and to "protect the good name" of her legitimate sons and a younger daughter.

Mrs. Sullivan told her story as friends stood by the immaculately white bed to which she has been confined since her secret became public.

Weeping bitterly and burying her head occasionally in pillows, she sobbed:

"I didn't mean to do any harm to the little boy. I wasn't unkind to him. I felt that it was our cross to bear it together."

Answering police reports that the boy couldn't distinguish the things common to every child—even an orange—because he had never seen them before, Mrs. Sullivan said:

"Every day he had fruit and the best of food we could afford. He liked to eat and I let him lack for nothing."

"It was only that he couldn't go out among the neighbors. I felt lost the story that his father wasn't his husband might get around. God knows, I meant no harm."

Mrs. E. D. Galloway, president of the Little Rock Conference Women's Society of Christian Service, and a prominent church woman in Arkansas, will speak tonight at First Methodist church.

Mrs. Galloway was a member of the last General Conference of the Methodist church, which met in Boston, Mass., and also of the Jurisdictional Conference at El Paso, Texas. She is a woman of strong conviction, great Christian character and an attractive speaker.

It is hoped that many people will hear her tonight in the series of services, which will continue every night this week, except Saturday, March 19.

Three Auto Accidents in This Area

City, County and State Police reported a series of accidents in this section within the past 24 hours.

Perhaps the most serious was the collision of automobiles driven by the Kelsie Putman of Hope and James Arnold of DeAnn late yesterday.

Both were injured but neither is believed in serious condition. The two cars were demolished.

Shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday a car driven by J. C. Britt collided with a Frisco train at the Washington Road crossing on No. 4. Britt suffered injuries, not believed serious and from shock. The vehicle was driving was seriously damaged.

And this morning early a large transport truck struck a bridge just beyond Red River at Fulton. The driver, escaped with minor injuries and was taken to Texarkana by a Herndon-Cornelius ambulance.

The Water and Light Committee was instructed to make necessary plans and recommendations for extension of a water line to serve residents in an area east of Hope, which recently was made a part of the city.

Joe D. Brown asked permission to build a garage on a dead-end street near his property on North Harvey. No action was taken pending on investigation.

Dr. William Perker, city health officer, discussed a mosquito control campaign and milk and meat inspection.

Mayor Brown told the group the Missouri Pacific Railway agreed to look into the matter of keeping downtown crossings blocked too long.

Meyer's Bakery asked permission to install gasoline tank for the firm's own use. A hearing was set for April 5.

Kiwanis Hear Reports on Minstrel Progress

Kiwanis Minstrel Committee reported at Tuesday regular noon luncheon of the organization and all members given minstrel canes to carry. The show will be staged Thursday and Friday, March 26-27.

Guests were Guy E. Bayse, Grodon Kling of San Antonio, Minn., Chester Hunt and Wesley Hart were introduced as new members.

Russian science marches steadily on.

There has been nothing like it since Tom Swift, whose real name was actually born on a Siberian steppe, stolen from his peasant parents by Gypsies and brought here as a boy and sold by the Gypsies to the General Electric Corporation.

Soviet Russia, it turns out, is even more of an inventor's heaven than a worker's paradise. Every few weeks Tass, the official government news agency, discovers a forgotten Russian scientist who really is responsible for some basic invention claimed by the capitalists in the western world.

The latest is Comrade Pavel Schilling, who Tass says put together a telephone 44 years before Alexander Graham Bell built his first Ameche. Comrade Schilling, who must have hid his light under a bushel, is also credited with making the first submarine cable and inventing the original system for stringing telegraph wires on poles.

One thing is sure: somebody is stringing somebody previously claimed for Soviet scientists are the invention of the radio, the electric light, the airplane, the paracheute, the transformer, and structural steel. They also are held to have discovered penicillin and the electrical nature of lightning.

This theory makes Johnny come lately of Marconi, Thomas Edison, Benjamin Franklin, and the Wright brothers. About all the western world now can claim is the five-cent cigar, nylon, pyramid clubs, the chocolate sundae, and the two-way stretch girdle.

Council Hikes Mayor's Salary $100 Month

The City Council in regular session last night passed an ordinance increasing the salary of mayor of Hope from $150 to $250 per month. The vote was unanimous.

In other sweeping action the council voted to abolish charges to local business-houses for hauling trash. Raising fees was discussed previously.

The group voted to accept a proposition from Roy Bullard concerning garbage and can hauling in the city. Previously the garbage was hauled by Joe D. Brown and sons. A contract will be negotiated with Mr. Bullard in the near future.

The Water and Light Committee was instructed to make necessary plans and recommendations for extension of a water line to serve residents in an area east of Hope, which recently was made a part of the city.

Joe D. Brown asked permission to build a garage on a dead-end street near his property on North Harvey. No action was taken pending on investigation.

Some other well-known Soviet inventions have been over looked by Tass and Pravda. Russia invented the veto in the field of international diplomacy. It was also the first modern nation to endorse sex speech—in a controlled way.

As time goes on it couldn't be too difficult to prove that basketball, which some folks think originated in 1891 in Springfield, Mass., actually was first played with goat-bladders on the banks of the Volga in the 14th century. There is also some evidence that Frank Merriwell (real name Merriwellovich) was it his son, Dick Merriwell, high school to beat Princeton with his famous "jump ball." Or was it his son, Dick Merriwell, who invented the "jump ball" pitch? History is getting so fuzzy.

A big question is raised by the fact Russia claims to have invented electric lights, telephones and radios but did so little with them for so many years. Is there a Communist plot behind this?

If Russia invented the machine gun, why did it come to flower in the western world? Are the Russians inventing these gadgets and exporting them to us in the secret hope we will destroy ourselves with the worries of a mechanized life? Maybe that is the hidden aim of Soviet scientists. Perhaps they are trying to act as to free ourselves to death with thingamajigs. Who knows but even now in some laboratory in the Urals a corps of trained scientists is working to perfect a shoeless that will snap in two every morning just as a man starts off to work?

Certainly they aren't interested in building a better mousetrap so the world will beat a path to Russia's door. Ivan doesn't want to open that door.

Magnolia Man Named Gas, Oil Commissioner

Little Rock, March 16 —(P)—R. S. Warnock, Jr., of Magnolia, has been reappointed to the state gas and oil commission by Governor McMath.

McMath appointed the following to the governor's mansion commission: R. E. Shannon, Piggott; R. D. Burrow, Walnut Ridge; Mrs. Burton Cronin, Silvan Springs; Mrs. Hayes McClerklin, Texarkana; Clyde Lowry, Little Rock (reappointed); Mrs. Clarice Armstrong, Hot Springs; Mrs. C. H. Murphy, Sr., El Dorado.

Fort Smith Radio Station Abandoned

Fort Smith, March 16 —(P)—The number of radio broadcasting stations in Fort Smith has been reduced from four to three.

Eliminated is KRKN, whose equipment and programs were being taken over today by KFSA.

Operators of KRKN announced last night the Federal Communications commission was being advised that it was relinquishing its license.

Don W. Reynolds, president of the Southwestern Publishing Co., operator of KFSA, said KRKN's equipment would be moved to a new station his company is building at Springdale, Ark.

McMath Names New Revenue Commissioners

Little Rock, March 16 —(P)—The five district supervisors of the Arkansas Revenue department have been announced by Commissioner Dean R. Morley.

They are:
District One (Eastern counties) —Alfred B. Cooper of Hickory Ridge.
District Two (Central and South Central) —Aubrey Blanks of Little Rock.
District Three (Southwestern) — Milton Outts of Texarkana.
District Four (Northwestern) — Arnold B. Sikes of Fort Smith.
District Five (Northwestern) — Billy Sledge of Leachville.

Europe Rearms for Expected Crisis With Reds

London, March 16 —(UP)—Western Europe, working under a newly-approved master defense plan, raced today to rearm before an expected major diplomatic crisis with Russia this summer.

The defense program, approved by the five Western Union countries at a two-day meeting here, called for each nation to arm as best it could and asked the United States for weapons that Europe cannot make.

Britain, as if striving to set the pace, announced that it was doubling its fighter strength. Britain also agreed to let France start manufacture of the British vampire jet fighter. This plane has a range of 600 miles and a speed of 631 miles per hour.

An outline of the rearmament effort was approved by the foreign ministers of the five western union countries — Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg — in the meeting that ended last night.

The plan will be submitted to other nations that join the Atlantic Pact so that all members can coordinate their work in the effort to stop the spread of communism.

Western union's defense program was drawn up behind closed doors in a series of secret meetings and many details were kept secret.

It was known, however, that the five-power conference decided to defend a line running from Switzerland along the Rhine River to the North Sea.

This would require each of the five powers to keep on instant call specified land forces and, in certain cases, sea and air units. It was understood that the plan called for "planning in some of the services."

Filibuster Over Senate Studies Modified Rule

Washington, March 16 —(P)—A long filibuster over and an alliance of Republicans and southern Democrats in control, the senate today moved toward a showdown on a modified talk-gagging change in its rules.

Before the chamber is a major, ity-backed proposal—bitterly opposed as ineffective by a minority made up of Truman Democrats—to let the "yes" votes of 64 of the 96 senators end debate on most business.

Republicans and southern Democrats who sponsored it, wrote into this compromise a provision for unlimited debate whenever a motion is made to chance the senate rules.

That's the kind of a motion—made February 22 by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson—which kept the senate knotted in a filibuster that came to a dramatic end at 11 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, last night.

At that hour, bipartisan circulation of the compromise announced they had the pledges of 52 members to support it, and it alone. The 52 included 30 Democrats and Miss Nell Louise Broyles and Miss Bonnie Marie Anthony were complimented at a beautifully appointed afternoon tea, Tuesday from four to five o'clock by Mrs. Sid McMath and Mrs. E.J. McCabe in the home of Mrs. McMath.

Mr. R. L. Broach greeted the guests at the door and presented them to the receiving line which included Mrs. McMath, Mrs. McCabe, Miss Bonnie Anthony and Miss Nell Louise Broyles.

The McMath home was decorated throughout with yellow daffodils at vantage points. The white and green color scheme was carried out in the dining room.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and held a lovely crystal centerpiece of white stock irls, carnations and greenery with white burning tapers.

Mrs. Graydon Anthony served embossed cakes and Mrs. Joel C. Broyles presided at the Silver Service. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. George Newbern, Jr. Mrs. Kelly Bryant and Mrs. Oliver Adams.

The honorees and their mothers were presented corsages of White Gardenias. Members of the houseparty wore flowers in their hair.

About 35 guests called during the appointed hour. Out of town guests were Mrs. Peyton Yarborough of Texarkana.

Luncheon Compliments
Miss Nell Louise Broyles
Miss Nell Louise Broyles, bride-elect of Dr. William Claiborne Yarborough, was recipient of many pre-nuptial parties, was complimented Tuesday, March 15 at a one o'clock luncheon given by Miss Hattie Ann Field at the Barlow Hotel. The honoree wore a French Vanilla linen suit with navy accessories.

The long table was covered with a white linen cloth and was beautifully decorated with a floral arrangement of mixed flowers including jonquils, hyacinths and tulips.

The honoree's place was marked with a lovely corsage and a gift of silver in her chosen pattern. Place cards, carrying out the bridal motif were used.

A four-course lunch was served to the following guests: the honoree Mrs. Joel C. Broyles, Mrs. Peyton Yarborough of Texarkana, Mrs. Dorsey McRae, Sr., Mrs. Dorsey McRae, Jr., Mrs. Stephen Cook, Mrs. Scott DeLee of Dallas, Miss Marian Mouser of Dallas, Mrs. R.L. Broach and the hostess.

POP Goes the QUEEN

By Bob Wade and Bill Miller

© by Bob Wade and Bill Miller
Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

At first, Sin couldn't see it. Then as she lifted a hand to shield her eyes from the bright embers of the campfire, she could discern a shadow darker than the rest. "It that the Queen, Johnny?"

"Don't ask me," John Henry muttered. "I can't see a thing."

Mr. Trim held his eyes on the sleeping Barselou but motioned with his head. "Look up, Conover. It's in the sky."

John Henry followed his advice. The outline of a wooden hull slowly took form against the rosy glow. The "Reina" had not come to rest on the canyon bottom. Rather, the galleon was wedged between the rock jaws of the chasm, almost 200 feet above their heads. Either the ground had eroded beneath her keel in the past two centuries or some convulsion of the wasteland had dropped her below ground level.

The galleon was overgrown by the octopus vines of a green succulent, but here trailed a rusty length of chain and there jutted a crumbling plank from the rudder.

There's enough to prove she used to be a treasure ship, anyway," Trim's jubilant voice cried.

His gaze sharpened. The sleeping form on the ground stirred, moaned and raised itself on its elbows.

"Good morning, Mr. Barselou!" Trim greeted him. His voice was climbing back to the octave the Conovers were more familiar with. Barselou scrambled to his feet, still half-fettered by the heavy blanket.

His jet-black hair stood in tangled spikes and his pale eyes were heavy with sleep.

His eyes widened then narrowed at the three mounted figures above him in the dawn. One hairy hand twitched toward the carbine that lay on the ground.

"No," Barselou halted, warily motionless and looked at the pistol muzzle.

"Rude to awaken you like this," Trim pattered on. "Particularly to the noise of a dream castle crumbling about your ears. But, that's the picturesque life, isn't it? Yes, Mr. Barselou, Calamity has come."

Barselou sagged visibly. His rugged face turned gray and he leaned for support against the boulder beside him. His colorless eyes, which seemed suddenly deeper in their sockets, glistened weakly at the Conovers. "It was you —" he began hoarsely then stopped as if the effort were too much.

"No," said Sin earnestly. "We're here by accident. Don't you understand? He's Jones."

DOROTHY DIX

Recipe for Holding Husband

Dear Dorothy Dix: My aim in life has always been to keep my home and family together. This is not always easy because there comes a time in many a marriage when the husband seems to lose his affection to this wife. Such was my case, and this is the way I handled it: I tried putting myself in my husband's place and to act as I would want him to treat me if the situation were reversed.

I made home life as pleasant as possible. I didn't nag him in any way or ask him any questions. I let him completely alone so far as showing any affection toward him, but never pulled him or criticized him in any way. I treated him just as I would a stranger when I

"Or Trim, or Jordan, said the little man gaily. "Yes, don't give these two credit for my adventure. The Conovers were brought because they knew of Walking Skull and for company through the night. And principally —" his voice gained metallic edge — "because they stumbled onto one of my last resorts in my wallet. Something I didn't care to have publicized."

"Jones," he said Barselou dully. "A mailing address only." Trim chuckled merrily. "It's comical that you took it for more than that. At this point, there's no harm in telling you that my real name is Jordan, widower, age 55, one daughter, and racing interests on the coast which return me enough to indulge my hobby seeking out the exotic in life. Quite a while ago I owned a couple of casinos in Las Vegas. Homer once worked for me."

"Anglin," he mused and shook his head. "A borderline case of insanity. He hurried to me with news of the Queen which you hired him to discover. I knew he was selling to both sides, but he thought he held the reins secretly. His bluntness to communicate by mail when all I was to disregard my instructions to communicate by mail when all was ready. He telegraphed."

Barselou lifted his head. "I was pressing him." Color began pouring back into the fierce face. "So you guessed I saw the wire."

"I couldn't ignore the chance, considering the hold you had in Azure. I generally include a female companion in my expeditions — they kick up such a blinding dust. And in this case it was sort of a celebration. My daughter Faye had just been released from —" Trim halted abruptly to glare at the pale couple on the horse beside him. "She was held illegally. Her only illness was over-originality!"

"Forget that carbine!" he snapped, twisting back toward Barselou. The unmounted man shrugged and dropped his hands. Trim continued pleasantly. "So we had to separate for the time being, as you were expecting a pair of Joneses. The cottage had been reserved for a week, with no mention of number of sex. All arrangements had been made for appointment with Anglin there — except the day. When he wired instead of writing, Faye was forced to occupy the cottage alone. While I took a room. We didn't dare to bear the least resemblance to a Mr. and Mrs. Jones of San Diego. Anglin made a stupid mistake over the cottage numbers, thought I had reneged on the deal, and turned to me in desperation. I couldn't catch him, but I stopped him."

A tinge of gold was on the cliffs that reared 10 feet or so above the imprisoned galleon.

"Light enough to work by," he said happily. "Shall we join the lady?"

Answer: If every wife should follow this woman's recipe for holding her husband's affections and keeping him eating out of her hand, it would practically revolutionize marriage and shut up the divorce courts. For what ails marriage more than anything else is that so few wives cover have the slightest inkling of masculine psychology, so they treat their husbands as they would like to be treated themselves, and then they wonder why their mates lose their taste for them.

Dominating Women
The average woman's idea of being a good wife is to dominate her husband completely. To see that he eats what she thinks he should eat; that he wears the clothes she selects; that he has no friends but her friends; that he goes nowhere without dragging her along with him; and if she can reduce him to being a stooge, she is happy and thinks he is.

But woe to the man who doesn't want to talk at night when he comes home tired from work, or who likes to go fishing, or hunting or take a little trip by himself. It is an exceptional case when his wife doesn't consider herself a martyr and spend her time telling anyone who will listen to her about what a poor, neglected creature she is.

And it all boils down to this: That husbands and wives want their mates to be happy but that each wants to write the happiness prescription for the other.

Around the Arkansas Sports Loop

By CARL BELL

Little Rock, March 16 — (AP)— Fight promoters here plan to change their card for their next program.

They had an unexciting show
 Monday night with Bob Sikes, the Pine Bluff and Little Rock veteran and Oscar Buchanan of Memphis in the feature attraction.
 It was Sikes' third straight appearance here since the new year set in, and the ringers might not have been enthralled even if the fight had been a good one.

Right now Promoters Les Call and Jimmy Watts are looking to Ragon Kinney, the Clarksville city marshal and state heavyweight champion, and Buddy Scott, the Florissant, to stage the next scrap in the series designed to determine the South's best heavy.

College talent scouts saw plenty of gold nuggets in the Class A Big Six basketball meet, but they'll have to wait awhile to grab many of them. Most of the stars this year are juniors, and even sophomores, in high school. The sophomores included all-stars Charley Keller
 Jonesboro; Johnson Gunn, Van Buren and Larry Crandall, Fort Smith.

Elvin Geiser watched the A-Big Six playoff with special interest could call both teams "my boys" for last year he coached football at Fayetteville and next fall he will take over at North Little Rock.

The sight of six-foot-four Loyde
 Taylor in the Northsiders, also a football player and just a junior, made Geiser grin from car to car.
 "Gee," the grid mentor said,
 "I never had a boy that big in my coaching life."

Gene Smith of the Jonesboro Sun points out that Arkansas high school athletic teams may have to be reclassified as a result of the school consolidation act adopted at last fall's election. Small schools now in Class B, by consolidation, likely will become as large as or larger than many schools now in higher classifications.

Executive Secretary Johnie Burnett says the Arkansas Athletic association has given a lot of thought to this problem.
 "It's coming slowly," said Burnnett, "but in two years at the most the classifications are going to be changed greatly."

The Little Rock Travelers' club chances of starting the 1949 baseball season in top form are being hurt by the slowness of players in reporting and the cold weather in which they are training here. While the Rockies haven't even gotten into the ballpark yet, other Southern Association clubs are playing exhibitions in Florida and other parts of the deep South.

Deward Dopson, Arkansas Tech's big center, lacked only one point of reaching the 500 mark in scoring this year. Four of his teammates topped 100.
 Bob Patrick of Fort Smith received the 26th lifetime pass, good in any major or minor league park, issued by organized baseball. Patrick was with Detroit in 1941 and then entered service. A war wound knocked him out of baseball. He now is a fireman in the Border
 City.
